

Lisbon, Dec 28, 2012. One more Christmas, and one more New Year...! The last ones we will celebrate as residents in Portugal during Lucy's current tour! It's amazing how fast time goes by when you are having fun!

Anyway, life in Lisbon for the family is chuggin' along! Filipa is back with us, enjoying her hard won break from school work; Ben is also on school break, but he decided to go the opposite way: he is busy as an intern/volunteer at Tavares (one of Lisbon's best restaurant); Lucy is as happy as ever, working away at the embassy; and I am busy with Adamastor Travel. Beautiful!

More news: as you see, I have added a page to this site. Named "Slow Roads!," this will be the place to come to for all news on the book and on Adamastor Travel, LLC.

...And that's all for today, folks! Stay tuned to the next one. Jorge.
