

Chevy Chase, Jul 6, 2014 Just over yet another crazily busy stretch!!! Early in Jun, I went on yet another "shakedown" road trip, this one to Maine. I took advantage of the opportunity to visit Madawaska, ME, generally considered by the motorcycle crowd to be the Northeastern corner of the "Lower 48 State." For a few pictures of this trip, see post below.

Shortly after getting home from this trip, I took off on yet another one, now by plane to Lisbon, Portugal. The objective on this one was to make a couple of presentations on "The Americas: Top to Bottom," and to negotiate a couple more partnerships deals for it.

Back at home now for the last 30 or so days before departure. Something tells me that this period is not going to be any less hectic....!

Check out the latest news on "The Americas: Top to Bottom" at www.TheAmericas-TTB.com. Spread the word, share the link, help with the dream!!!

Cheers.
